

This is your corner. Make use of it for your information on questions that are puzzling you. It will be my pleasure and privilege to answer carefully and promptly all questions submitted to me. Your full name and address must accompany each letter sent. For special information send stamped envelope. All communications will always be held in absolute confidence.

All letters should be addressed very plainly in pen and ink to Helen Brooks, Box 1545, Salt Lake City.

Dear Miss Brooks:

I have been very interested in your corner and thought I would have you answer some questions for me.

(1) If a girl should go to a certain place and meet a boy friend while she is there, when she gets back home is she supposed to write to him first?

(2) Suppose you know a boy friend for a long time and while you was in a certain town to see him and then after you return home is the girl supposed to write first? Hoping you will understand me, I remain, as ever, a friend.

PEGGY:
(1) You should have had an understanding if the young man asked you to correspond with him, that he should write first, as this would have been more proper. In either case you refer to it, it would not be improper for you to write a short letter letting them know you had arrived home.

Dear Miss Brooks:

I am very interested in your corner and wish you everlasting success. I have a question or two. Is it a fact that girls and boys are better looking at sixteen to twenty than they are at fourteen to sixteen years of age? (2) Is it an absolute cure for eczema? (3) In going away from your home town and going out with boys or young men whom your parents are not very well acquainted with, should you have a chaperon? (4) Is Florence Vidor, an actress in the movies, a married woman? (5) What is the best way to leave your hair at night when it is curly so it will not break off? (6) When a boy asks to bring you home from a dance, should you ask your mother if he may or just tell him "yes" or "no" as you think best? I am sixteen.

Ever yours,

INQUISITIVE, Randolph, Ut.

Thanks, my dear.

(1) No, it is not a fact that boys and girls are better looking at one age than another. (2) I would not say the article mentioned was an absolute cure for eczema, but if you will send your name and stamped envelope I can give you the name of a guaranteed cure for eczema. (3) Strictly speaking, you should not attend any public affair without a chaperone and when you take this precaution you can feel you have left no room for criticism. This custom is adhered to more carefully in the eastern states than it is in our western country, but it is always more proper to be chaperoned, and is coming to be so considered everywhere. (4) I have been unable to get a line up on Florence Vidor as to whether she is married or not. She is twenty-seven years of age, her home address is 1719 Belma Ave., Los Angeles, Calif., and her studio address is 6642 South Monica Blvd., Hollywood, Calif., so you may write to her, if you wish. (5) I would advise wearing a cap which fits the head snugly to keep your hair in order. (6) I think you could use your own judgment in accepting or refusing the boy's offer to bring you home.

Dear Miss Brooks:

I am very interested in your corner "Between You and Me," and would like to ask a question. Is it a sure cure for dandruff? Is it a sure cure for your last answers I found the words for the songs "Sweet Adeline" and "Memories." I like the words very much and would like to have the music. I would like to play them on the piano. Thanking you very much. May I come again?

KITTY, Utah.

The tonic you mention does not guarantee a cure for dandruff. If you send your name and stamped envelope, I will send you the name of one which does guarantee a cure. Will also send you the name of a firm where you can get the music to the songs mentioned.

Dearest Helen:

Hail our approach! We hope we reach you successfully for this is our first journey to your corner. We are two interested and very inquisitive girls, and many questions which we cannot solve often confront us. From our observations we find that the girl who allows the boys to kiss her goodnight, and put his arms around her is always the girl who seems to be "popular," always having a fellow and a good time, while the girl who doesn't allow those privileges sits in the corner and is never looked at. No matter how she tries to be sociable. You have said in previous answers that a boy doesn't really respect a girl who allows him privileges; but why doesn't he show his respect for a modest girl by showing her a good time? We hope you will be able to answer this complex question without much bother.

BILL and BOB, Utah.

You arrived and are well. Heaven deliver us (and you) from popularity gained in this manner. Bill and Bob, don't you? I reiterate that the right sort of boy does not respect the girl who allows him these privileges, and while this sort may seem scarce now, it rests with you girls who have been trained properly and who consider your girlhood a pure, sacred thing, which you alone can keep undefiled and pure from contamination with the riff-raff who insults you by demanding such liberties and privileges, to so conduct yourselves that more boys may be brought to understand they have no right to think of offering such insults. There are such boys, girls, and you will find them for them. I beg you and you are entitled to a "good
